

Cultivate Conference

June 13th, 2024 | Fargo, ND

Cultivate Conference brings together a diverse community of experts, thought leaders, entrepreneurs, and growers to share their knowledge and experiences, and explore the exciting possibilities of technology in agriculture.

Attendees will have the opportunity to learn about cutting-edge solutions to real-world problems, connect with others in AgTech, and discover new opportunities to grow their businesses and drive innovation in this dynamic field. The Cultivate Conference is the must-attend event for anyone interested in the future of agriculture technology.

Goals of the Conference

- Highlight work being done in agriculture technology
- Provide a space for growers to give AgTech feedback
- Create connections between startups, growers, corporations, technologists, investors, and universities
- Spotlight public-private partnership opportunities

Audience

Those involved in or interested in the agriculture technology industry, including growers, startups, corporations, ecosystem builders, government entities, research institutions, and investors.
